 - engage in or promote anti-competitive activities, including progressive recruitment (such as chain, snowball or pyramid schemes)
 - use legally protected content (e.g. by copyright, trademark, patent, design or utility model law) without being entitled to do so, or advertise, offer or sell legally protected goods or services,
 - unreasonably harass other participants (in particular through spam) (see §7 UWG),
 - refrain from the following harassing acts, even if they do not explicitly violate any laws: lewd or sexual communication (explicit or implicit);
 - All Participants are reminded that the material presented is the intellectual property of the respective presenter or is. Therefore, participants are prohibited from recording presentations with the intention of sharing them with third parties.
 - The use of personal smartphones, cameras or video devices should be limited to taking snapshots or clippings for personal use.
 - Any further photographing and recording of contents/presentations for professional use is not permitted without the prior consent of the organiser.
- The type and scope of the respective sanction measures against participants are at the discretion of the organiser and are based in particular on the type, severity, duration and number of violations.

For example, the organiser may take the following measures, if there are concrete indications that participants are violating legal regulations, the rights of third parties or the conditions stated in this document, or if the organiser has another justified interest:

 - Removal of content presented by the specific participant.
 - Denying access to the workshop.

- The organiser assumes no responsibility for the content, data and/or information provided by participants on site or virtually, or for content on linked external websites. In particular, the organiser does not guarantee that this content is true, fulfils a specific purpose or can serve such a purpose. The participant is solely responsible for the content he/she presents.
- Each presenter (in person event, hybrid and virtually event) must also independently ensure that he/she does not infringe any third-party rights in the course of his/her presentation and that he/she complies with all contractual and legal obligations (including these conditions of participation). In particular, he/she is obliged to check the information provided by him/her (logos, text and image material, videos, etc.) for their legality, as well as for any existing third-party rights. Special reference is made here to the provisions of the Copyright Act, the Trademark Act and the Unfair Competition Act.
- The organiser will expressly not check the data provided in abstracts and presentations for their legality. Participants shall indemnify the organiser against all claims by third parties that may be asserted against the organiser on the basis of their conduct in violation of the law or the contract. This shall also include the reasonable costs of legal defence, in particular court costs and lawyers' fees in the statutory amount. Sentence two shall not apply, if the participant is not responsible for the infringement. In any case, however, the participant shall be obliged to inform the organiser immediately, completely and truthfully in the workshop of a possible claim by third parties and to provide all information necessary for verification and defence.
- Participants of an international event come from different countries, also countries that are subject to very extensive United Nations' embargo regulations which concern even dual use goods. Therefore, we urgently suggest that participants who present new and unpublished scientific results assure that these results are not subject to any applicable embargo regulation. In case they are, all necessary export licenses have to be obtained before presentation. DLR cannot assume any responsibility or liability for compliance with export control laws and regulations by conference participants from other institutions and organizations who present their results. They are liable for a presentation in compliance with applicable export control laws themselves.

VIRTUAL PART OF THE IWGI2022

The organizer offers the opportunity to registered participants to participate online via livestream.

- Any use of the services and content offered via the livestream requires the prior written agreement of the organizer.
- Hosting takes place on DLR servers.
- DLR is not liable for failures and damages that occur in connection with problems with the third-party provider. DLR is also not liable for failures caused by force majeure. The same applies to damage or other disruptions caused by the defectiveness or incompatibility of the user's software or hardware.

- Liability is excluded for only insignificant or short-term impairments of usability. DLR assumes no liability for malfunctions, errors, delays or other impediments to performance that occur during the transmission of content via the Internet, except in cases of intent and gross negligence. Furthermore, DLR assumes no liability for access and availability of the Internet. In particular, availability may be temporarily restricted due to maintenance work or for other reasons. Liability for the consequences of limited availability – of whatever nature and for whatever reason – is excluded.

These terms and conditions and all obligations arising therefrom shall be governed by the laws of the Federal Republic of Germany. The place of jurisdiction for all disputes between exhibitors and DLR shall be Cologne. Should any provisions of these Conditions of Participation be or become invalid in whole or in part, this shall not affect the remaining provisions.
